

The majority of people will make positive changes when those in positions of authority do things with them rather than to them or for them. - Wachtel & Costello (2009)

