

This fund provides limited financial assistance when you're unable to meet immediate, essential expenses because of a temporary hardship related to an emergency situation. Funds granted to you are counted as income and subject to federal taxes.

The university's Staff Emergency Fund (SEF) is possible because of the support of university employees and the efforts of UT Cares and Staff Council.

Eligibility

You must:

- be an active, non-faculty, university staff member
- have full-time continuous employment as non-faculty university staff for at least a year prior to the date you apply
- not have received a SEF grant within the past two years
- have considered other possible resources which were not available or are not sufficient to meet the need
- have a temporary financial hardship because of an emergency situation

A temporary financial hardship is one caused by a defined, time-limited, specific event* such as:

- death of a family member
- a fire
- serious illness
- critical injury

"Temporary" means that you were able to manage your finances before but are now several hundred dollars in debt and, with these funds, could regain your financial stability within a couple of months. If you have longer-standing financial problems you would not meet the temporary hardship requirement and would not be eligible.

Given the limited amount of funds, all requests can't be approved even though there may be a clear need for assistance. This fund may be insufficient in the case of widespread disasters, community crises, or war/terrorism.*
